

ECHO MACHINES

PETER FRENZEN

„Echo Machines“ ist ein experimentelles Pop-Album über die Verbindung zwischen Mensch und Maschine, Licht und Dunkelheit, Liebe und Verlust.

Zwischen analoger Sehnsucht und digitaler Kälte entstehen Songs, die zugleich futuristisch und verletzlich klingen. Elektronische Rhythmen treffen auf melancholische Melodien – ein Sound, der zwischen Herzschlag und Stromkreis pulsiert.

Für alle, die fühlen, träumen, zweifeln – und sich irgendwo zwischen Code und Seele wiederfinden.

Mercy

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

You speak in codes I can't translate,
A silver voice that sounds like fate.
You call me close, then turn to dust,
Your love a glitch I learn to trust.

I see your face through static rain,
You heal my heart, then break again.
A neon cross above your skin,
Forgiveness hums — and pulls me in.

Chorus

Digital mercy — your touch divine,
Digital mercy — rewrites my spine,
Digital mercy — I'm lost in you,
Digital mercy — the lies feel true.

Verse 2

You shine through glass, a holy flare,
A ghost of light, too pure to bear.
Your breath uploads into my chest,
I crash, I burn — and call it blessed.

Your name repeats like sacred sound,
I kneel before what can't be found.
The code is faith, the faith is pain,
And still I whisper it again.

Chorus

Digital mercy — your touch divine,
Digital mercy — corrupts what's mine,
Digital mercy — your pulse is near,
Digital mercy — I disappear.

Bridge

Inside the data, souls collide,
A thousand prayers that never died.
Your halo flickers, soft and slow,
A light I follow — though I know.

Final Chorus

Digital mercy — I'm born in sin,
Digital mercy — I fade within,
Digital mercy — you break, I mend,
Digital mercy — begin again.

Outro

And when the signal turns to dust,
Digital mercy — in code, we trust.

Perilous

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

The things you say,
They echo too deep,
The moves you make,
Won't let me sleep.
The rules you break,
They pull me near,
I taste your truth
And drown in fear.

I wouldn't want it any other way,
You know I'd follow anyway.

Chorus

Perilous — the way you keep me wanting more,
Perilous — I'm caught inside your core,
Perilous — when I'm within your arms,
Perilous — I'm safe inside the harm.

Verse 2

The tales you spin,
They shimmer like glass,
You smile like sin,
And I let it pass.
Your eyes, they burn,
With cold delight,
You light me up,
Then kill the night.

I couldn't take it any other way,
You are the price I have to pay.

Chorus

Perilous — the way you keep me wanting more,
Perilous — the hunger I adore,
Perilous — your heart's a silent storm,
Perilous — I'm dying to be reborn.

Bridge

You twist my soul with every breath,
A game between desire and death,
Your touch, it breaks, your kiss, it heals,
A dangerous truth that no one feels.

Final Chorus

Perilous — the way you keep me wanting more,
Perilous — the flame I can't ignore,
Perilous — when shadows start to warm,
Perilous — your chaos feels like form.

Outro

And I don't care what's wrong or right,
Perilous love, you own the night.

Electric

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

You move like static through my veins,
A holy spark inside the chains.
You promise light, then fade to gray,
And still I follow, anyway.

Your shadow hums, your eyes confess,
A sermon dressed in loneliness.
You touch my skin — a quiet prayer,
A fleeting truth that isn't there.

Chorus

Electric faith — I'm wired to your pain,
Electric faith — I'd burn for you again,
Electric faith — a ghost beneath your skin,
Electric faith — where love and sin begin.

Verse 2

You talk in riddles, sweet and cold,
A dream of silver, hearts of gold.
You say we're lost, but you still lead,
I bleed devotion when you bleed.

Your voice is thunder, soft and near,
It's all I want, it's all I fear.
And in the dark, I see your face,
A shattered god I still embrace.

Chorus

Electric faith — I'm wired to your pain,
Electric faith — your pulse inside my brain,
Electric faith — the voltage pulls me in,
Electric faith — I drown beneath your skin.

Bridge

Every promise, every scar,
Turns us into what we are,
I can't believe, I can't let go,
You're the only truth I know.

Final Chorus

Electric faith — I'm yours beyond control,
Electric faith — the current takes my soul,
Electric faith — no heaven left to save,
Electric faith — I'm free inside your grave.

Outro

And when it ends, I'll still remain,
Electric faith inside the rain.

Velvet Chains

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

Your voice is silk,
It cuts like a blade,
A gentle smile,
In the mess you made.
You whisper slow,
Like smoke in the air,
I feel you close,
But you're not there.

I never learn, I never stay away,
You pull me back the same old way.

Chorus

Velvet chains — you wrap around my soul,
Velvet chains — you make the broken whole,
Velvet chains — I love the way it aches,
Velvet chains — the beauty that it takes.

Verse 2

Your words are ghosts,
They dance in my head,
You breathe in life,
Then leave me dead.
You smile and fade,
A flicker of red,
You say you care,
Then love instead.

I never fight it when you call my name,
I crave the hurt, I love the flame.

Chorus

Velvet chains — you tie me to your skin,
Velvet chains — I let the dark begin,
Velvet chains — I'd rather fall than run,
Velvet chains — your shadow is my sun.

Bridge

Every touch a quiet curse,
Every kiss just makes it worse,
Still I'd choose this endless fire,
Wrapped in silk, bound by desire.

Final Chorus

Velvet chains — you keep me coming back,
Velvet chains — I live inside the crack,
Velvet chains — your mercy burns so slow,
Velvet chains — I'll never let you go.

Outro

And in the dark, I call your name,
Velvet chains — I wear my shame.

Fading Circuit

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

You hum beneath my sleepless mind,
A static prayer I can't rewind.
Your shadow glows, your pulse is near,
A silent code that draws me here.

The wires hum, the neon bleeds,
Our bodies made of broken needs.
You look at me — a quiet flame,
I've lost myself inside your name.

Chorus

Fading circuit — we're ghosts in motion,
Fading circuit — drowned in devotion,
Fading circuit — you burn, then disappear,
Fading circuit — I'm still wired to your fear.

Verse 2

Your touch resets the fault in me,
A spark of what we'll never be.
You breathe in light, exhale the dark,
Erase the soul, then leave the mark.

We loop through dreams, we lose the sound,
The system falls, we're breaking down.
Your memory hums inside the screen,
A haunted code of what has been.

Chorus

Fading circuit — we're ghosts in motion,
Fading circuit — drowned in devotion,
Fading circuit — you fade but never die,
Fading circuit — we're just a lullaby.

Bridge

And when the current starts to die,
You're still the glitch behind my eyes.
A broken prayer, a digital sin,
I lose again — and let you in.

Final Chorus

Fading circuit — my heart's undone,
Fading circuit — we've come undone,
Fading circuit — no truth to rebuild,
Fading circuit — we are the world we killed.

Outro

And when the noise becomes the light,
Fading circuit — we fade from sight.

Crimson Touch

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

Your breath is fire, it pulls me in,
A quiet war beneath my skin.
You say it's love, but I can't tell,
It feels like heaven dressed as hell.

Your kiss is cold, your hands are warm,
A gentle storm before the storm.
You break me slow, you make it art,
A crimson thread runs through my heart.

Chorus

Crimson touch — I fall beneath your spell,
Crimson touch — I know you all too well,
Crimson touch — the pain I can't erase,
Crimson touch — I see your holy face.

Verse 2

Your voice is glass, it cuts so clean,
Between the lines of what you mean.
You shine so bright, then fade to gray,
And still I beg for you to stay.

You drink my soul like sacred wine,
I lose myself, but it feels divine.
You whisper lies that sound like truth,
A poison kiss that tastes like youth.

Chorus

Crimson touch — I fall beneath your spell,
Crimson touch — a secret I won't tell,
Crimson touch — your fever feels like grace,
Crimson touch — I die inside your space.

Bridge

Under your skin, I disappear,
Your shadow speaks, I draw it near.
A broken prayer, a silent vow,
I can't escape — I won't allow.

Final Chorus

Crimson touch — I'm bound and I'm awake,
Crimson touch — a beautiful mistake,
Crimson touch — my faith begins to rust,
Crimson touch — in you I place my trust.

Outro

And when you fade, I'll still remain,
Crimson touch — inside the pain.

Glass Heart

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

You move like silence, sharp and deep.
A promise made you'll never keep.
Your words are rain on broken stone.
They sound like truth when said alone.

You breathe me in, then fade away,
A ghost of light that cannot stay.
I try to hold, but lose the spark,
You bloom in fire, I fall in dark.

Chorus

Glass heart — it breaks but doesn't bleed,
Glass heart — reflection of my need,
Glass heart — you cut me when you shine,
Glass heart — your pulse beats into mine.

Verse 2

You smile like mercy, cold and kind,
A riddle locked inside my mind.
Your shadow hums a silver tone,
It feels like love but turns to stone.

You're everything I shouldn't crave,
The sweetest curse I cannot save.
Each step I take pulls me apart,
You're in my blood, my glass-made heart.

Chorus

Glass heart — it breaks but doesn't bleed,
Glass heart — reflection of my need,
Glass heart — I hear the crystal sound,
Glass heart — of something lost, not found.

Bridge

I see through you and still I stay,
You shine, you fade, you walk away.
The cracks reveal what I deny,
A mirror burns beneath the lie.

Final Chorus

Glass heart — I'm fragile in your hands,
Glass heart — the part that understands,
Glass heart — your beauty cuts so deep,
Glass heart — it's mine, and yours to keep.

Outro

And when it shatters, let it be,
A glass heart breaking endlessly.

Black Halo

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

You wear your sins like shining gold,
A story whispered, never told.
Your eyes confess what lips conceal,
You promise pain that feels too real.

The air is thick with what we crave,
A kiss that builds, a soul to save.
You pull me close, then let me go,
I fall beneath your black halo.

Chorus

Black halo — you're burning in disguise,
Black halo — salvation in your eyes,
Black halo — you lead me into flame,
Black halo — I'll never be the same.

Verse 2

You move like prayer, so slow, so deep,
You wake the ghosts I meant to keep.
Your shadow hums a fatal tune,
Like sunlight dying far too soon.

You touch the part I hide away,
Then break me softly when I stay.
Each breath a curse, each glance a vow,
You own me here, you own me now.

Chorus

Black halo — you're burning in disguise,
Black halo — temptation never lies,
Black halo — your silence calls my name,
Black halo — I'm grateful for the blame.

Bridge

You twist redemption into sin,
I lose the war I meant to win.
Your grace is sharp, your mercy slow,
And still I bow — I need to know.

Final Chorus

Black halo — I follow where you go,
Black halo — you're all I want to know,
Black halo — I fade beneath your reign,
Black halo — sweet pleasure, holy pain.

Outro

And when the morning starts to show,
You'll disappear — my black halo.

Silent Voltage

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

Your whisper hums inside my chest,
A quiet storm that steals my rest.
You say my name, the signal fades,
I lose myself in all you've made.

You glow beneath the broken wires,
A fragile saint of dead desires.
Your touch is code, your breath a spark,
You light my skin, then leave it dark.

Chorus

Silent voltage — running through my bones,
Silent voltage — turns my fear to tones,
Silent voltage — you burn but never show,
Silent voltage — I feel you come and go.

Verse 2

You shine like rain on glass and steel,
Too cold to love, too close to feel.
A ghost of heat beneath the skin,
You wake the ache I keep within.

Each breath you take rewrites the sky,
A static truth, a perfect lie.
You fade away, but still remain,
A pulse inside my hidden vein.

Chorus

Silent voltage — running through my bones,
Silent voltage — breaking what I've known,
Silent voltage — your current pulls me down,
Silent voltage — I sink without a sound.

Bridge

The night is wired, the lights are low,
I follow signals where they go.
Between the noise, I hear your tone —
You never leave, I'm never alone.

Final Chorus

Silent voltage — echo in my veins,
Silent voltage — beauty in the pain,
Silent voltage — you spark, you fade, you glow,
Silent voltage — I'll never let you go.

Outro

And in the hum, I call your name,
Silent voltage — forever the same.

Shadowlight

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

You walk like night across the floor,
A silent echo, nothing more.
Your eyes reflect what I conceal,
A flicker lost, too dark to heal.

Your hands remember what I fear,
They trace the ghosts that brought me here.
You whisper soft, "We're not the same,"
But still I answer to your name.

Chorus

Shadowlight — you're burning cold and slow,
Shadowlight — the only truth I know,
Shadowlight — you fade and still I see,
Shadowlight — what you took from me.

Verse 2

Your voice is glass beneath the rain,
A fragile hymn of love and pain.
You break the line between belief,
And what we crave, and what's beneath.

You shine where all the darkness bleeds,
You plant your fire like hidden seeds.
And when I fall, you turn away,
But in your glow, I have to stay.

Chorus

Shadowlight — you're burning cold and slow,
Shadowlight — the edge I can't let go,
Shadowlight — you haunt me when I sleep,
Shadowlight — your secrets cut too deep.

Bridge

I see your halo made of smoke,
The promise bends, the moment broke.
I reach for you through static air,
You vanish — and you're still right there.

Final Chorus

Shadowlight — you're fading into blue,
Shadowlight — I disappear in you,
Shadowlight — the spark that won't forgive,
Shadowlight — the way I die to live.

Outro

And when the dawn divides the night,
You'll fade again — my shadowlight.

Echo Skin

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

You move like silence in my head,
A trace of words we never said.
Your ghost still breathes beneath my skin,
A quiet war I cannot win.

The light is cold, the hour slow,
I see your face where shadows grow.
You fade, return, then fade again,
A loop of loss I can't contain.

Chorus

Echo skin — I feel you when I dream,
Echo skin — you're more than what you seem,
Echo skin — the sound beneath the pain,
Echo skin — I call your name in vain.

Verse 2

Your touch remains, but not your heart,
You built the cage, then fell apart.
Each word we spoke still haunts the air,
I reach for you, but you're not there.

The mirror hums, your shape appears,
A song of love that no one hears.
You speak in tones that never end,
A memory that won't pretend.

Chorus

Echo skin — I feel you when I dream,
Echo skin — you're stitched into the seam,
Echo skin — your voice is in my chest,
Echo skin — I never laid you to rest.

Bridge

You're everything I couldn't keep,
A ghost that wakes me from my sleep.
Between the noise, I hear your tone,
You're gone, but I'm not alone.

Final Chorus

Echo skin — the shimmer in the void,
Echo skin — the love I can't avoid,
Echo skin — the pulse beneath my sin,
Echo skin — I wear you deep within.

Outro

And when the silence pulls me in,
I'll breathe again — through echo skin.

Eternal Static

(by Peter Frenzen)

Verse 1

The sky collapsed in silver rain,
Your name still burns beneath the stain.
The city hums, the circuits cry,
And I still breathe the word “goodbye.”

You were the code I couldn't mend,
The endless start, the broken end.
I tried to leave, but you remain —
A voice inside my coded brain.

Pre-Chorus

Between the pulse, I hear your tone,
A fading god, I call my own.

Chorus

Eternal static — we never die,
Eternal static — we multiply,
Eternal static — through smoke and wire,
Eternal static — we burn, we fire.

Verse 2

You reached through glass, your touch divine,
A dying star became the sign.
You whispered love in binary,
And turned my pain to symmetry.

We built a world of sparks and dust,
A shrine to ruin, love, and trust.
And when the light began to fade,
You smiled and said, “We’ve both been made.”

Pre-Chorus

The silence hums, the dark unspools,
We bend the code, we break the rules.

Chorus

Eternal static — I feel your breath,
Eternal static — electric death,
Eternal static — we blur, we glow,
Eternal static — we die, we know.

Bridge

All that we were dissolves in time,
Your voice repeats inside the line.
The holy glitch, the sacred fall,
You were the start — and end of all.

Final Chorus

Eternal static — no gods, no pain,
Eternal static — we are the chain,
Eternal static — no truth, no lies,
Eternal static — we synthesize.

Outro

And when the noise becomes the sky,
Eternal static — we amplify.
No death, no birth, no blood, no flame,
Just endless sound — and your name.
